

All Things Fade:

All things fade
Day after day
The sky grows dark
As sunlight melts away

And in the twilight
We can see the grand design
The sun goes down
But stars arise

When all things fade away
Our God remains
A light of hope in the darkest place

So turn your eyes upon His face
When all things fade

All our lives
We search in vain
For something we can take with us
Beyond the grave

And in the twilight
We can see the grand design
The sun goes down
But hope survives

When all things fade away
Our God remains
A light of hope in the darkest place

So turn your eyes upon His face
When all things fade

Why do we try so hard to acquire
Fortune, power, and fame?
It's all the same

It won't remain
When all things fade
When all things fade

All things fade away
Our God remains

A light of hope in the darkest place

So turn your eyes upon His face
When all things fade

All things fade away
Our God remains
A light of hope in the darkest place

So turn your eyes upon His face
When all things fade
